

Executive Consulting and Master Planning

Your Life Safety Mission is Our Passion.

■ Mission Critical Partners, Inc. (MCP) partners with clients to develop customized technical and operational solutions for life safety communications. Our staff has extensive experience serving in public sector and public safety management roles and applies that depth of real-world knowledge to advocating for our clients. Through our first-hand experience, we have earned the reputation for being accountable, prudent, persistent, progressive and reliable problem solvers.

MCP provides services that are initiated at a strategic level. An integral part of our executive level consulting is providing master planning services. Our team of policy specialists collaborates with clients to create comprehensive plans that help direct decision making in the public safety sector. In developing a strategic plan, MCP incorporates master planning, organizational structuring, hiring assistance, fiscal planning, operations and technology and policy solutions.

Our team first directs its collective energy on understanding the full scope of the client's responsibility and objectives then assembles a strategy that serves as a guide for the project. MCP executes a comprehensive, tactical approach that addresses all elements of the client's sphere of influence. We evaluate the unique challenges that stand in the way of achieving success, then mitigate those challenges by leveraging policy, as well as human, technological and fiscal assets to develop a sustainable solution.

Our clients are responsible for delivering reliable service 24/7 to first responders and the public while operating with limited resources. In response, MCP aids clients by structuring organizations, programs and projects for available grant funding through policy development, technology and appropriate fiscal planning.
